SCAD Student Media Video Editor

SCAD Student Media seeks a currently enrolled student to serve as video editor for five media platforms: District, SCAD Radio, The Manor, Port City Review and The Honey Dripper.

The Video Editor assists the department in the quickly editing video packages for web distribution. The editor should have working experience with Adobe Premier, AfterEffects and Creative Suite. The successful candidate will have the ability to take unedited files and make them into tight video packages without assistance.

The Video Editor will gain valuable experience editing videos in a professional environment for mass consumption. This position will be particularly valuable for film and television and sound design majors who want to grow their resume and portfolio while also being paid.

The Video Editor should be proficient in the following programs and/or skill sets:

- Adobe Premiere
- Adobe After Effects
- Sound Editing
- Video Editing
- Proficiency in After Effects
- Proficiency in Premiere
- Understanding of color correction
- Knowing how to composite footage

Specifically, the Video Editor will perform the following tasks:

- Be able to take unedited audio and video files and quickly edit that content into tight, professional video packages while on deadline.
- Set two weekly shifts to edit and post videos on various platforms, including YouTube, Facebook and WordPress.
- Coordinate with the Director of Student Media and the student leaders to produce videos that adhere to establish deadlines, styles and tone of the websites.

HOW TO APPLY

Applicants must be students actively enrolled at the Savannah campus in Spring 2016. To apply, students should submit a resume, completed application, and relevant work samples too Adam Crisp, director of student media: acrisp@scad.edu. The deadline to apply is 5 p.m. Friday, March 31, 2017.

COMPENSATION

This position is eligible for a monthly stipend. The stipend does not constitute employment, and student editors are not considered SCAD employees. The weekly pay for this position is $75 per week. The position requires six hours of work in the student media center per week.
